

Invitation

Stories from Washington's Indigenous, Latino and Immigrant Communities

A Collaborative Presentation of Heritage University and Whitman College

What is it like to grow up indigenous, whether your roots here extend back generations or just a few years? How do immigrant, Latino, Native, and indigenous stories overlap, diverge, and interweave? What makes our communities stronger? Come hear the spoken word performance piece "Growing Up Indigenous" by Heritage students, along with stories from Washington's Latino and immigrant communities told by student researchers for Whitman's project on "The State of the State for Washington Latinos"

Event Facilitators

Dr. Winona Wynn

Dr. Paul Apostolidis

Date: April 19, 2012

Opening Reception: 5:00-6:00pm

Presentations: 6:00-8:00PM

Location: Smith Family Hall Rooms
2388-2390

For more information please visit link below.

<http://www.walatinos.org/>